

Cass Sunstein Talking Points

1. Cass Sunstein is President Obama's nominee to head the powerful federal agency, the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs (OIRA).

This agency has extensive authority over all federal regulations including those coming from the Departments of the Interior (U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service) and Agriculture.

2. Sunstein is a dedicated animal rights supporter and has indicated support for giving animals the right to sue humans.
3. Sunstein has written specifically that, "we might ban hunting altogether, at least if it's sole purpose is human recreation."
4. Sunstein could block pro-hunting, fishing, and trapping regulations in this position at OIRA if confirmed.
5. There is talk in Washington DC that Sunstein could eventually be a nominee for the U.S. Supreme Court
